Group To Meet
New Coaches, Hear
Reorganization Idea

A Cameron Quarterback Club meeting is scheduled 7:30 p. m. Monday at Ben Milam Cafeteria to discuss a reorganization into a Yoeman Boosters Club, meet two new coaches and see a grid film.

John Roberts, new YHS head coach, reported that a five-point program for boosting YHS football and other sports would be discussed.

New president of the Cameron Quarterback Club is John Henderson, Jr., who was elected in a June meeting of the group.

Roberts will introduce new coaches Carl T. (Sonny) Everett, first assistant, and Joe Davis, basketball and football assistant.

Henderson will present a proposed constitution and by-laws which has been drawn up for club approval.

And Coach Roberts will discuss the objectives of the new Yoeman Boosters Club.

Objectives include: Supporting all athletic teams of Yoe High School; encouraging good sportsmanship toward officials, opposing teams and out-of-town visitors; encouraging the youth of Cameron that the men of Cameron are behind them 100 per cent; aiding in projects presented by the club, coaches and school for a better athletic program; and boosting the value of athletic participation in Cameron's schools and summer recreation programs.

Roberts, going into his first full year as head coach here, urges fullest support for all Cameron athletic programs.

"Cameron has one of the largest double-A schools in Texas and deserves a broad-based athletic program for ample opportunity for as many young people as possible," Roberts said.

He pointed to the 1962 football program of eighth-grade, B-team and varsity football, an intramural flag football program for other interested students, basketball at the eighth, B-team, and seventh and varsity B-levels, and track competition not only for Yoe High School but also for Ada Henderson and grade schools. And he said baseball, golf and tennis programs in Yoe High School will lead the spring athletic program.

"These proposals will enlarge the school athletic program and will need the support of all Cameron sports boosters," he said.

Council Approves Cemetery Survey In Tuesday Meeting

The City Council Tuesday approved a survey of gravesite names for a voluntary cemetery clean-up and raised the Cameron arson reward from $100 to $250.

Councilmen John A. Smith and Sam Houston, members of a Council Cemetery committee, reported that a large number of gravesites were overgrown with grass and urged co-operation of families of those buried in Oak Hill in keeping sites cleared of weeds.

A survey is being conducted of those graves overgrown with grass. And officials said the city would clean up lots if families wish to pay a $5 service charge.

Public Works Supt. J. B. Earle is working on a proposed sewerline in West Cameron.

If approved, it would bring sewerline service to a major portion of West Cameron. Profiles are being made on a line that would go from West Main St. to Colfax Avenue, on to West Sixth St., then east on Sixth to Vogelsang, south on Vogelsang to the project's end.

Water Supt. Alvin Heffert reported that sewerline and water connections during the past two years have extended service by the following:

- 104 new sewerline connections.
- 85 new water connections.
- 9,470 feet of sewerline extension.
- 475 feet of 6-inch water lines
- 20 fire hydrants replaced and two added.

He also requested approval to purchase 12 new 3-4 inch water meters.

In other action the Council approved paving one block of E. 12th St. from North Jackson to North Adams.

No Hellos This Time . . . Exchange Pupils On Way Home

A Staff Feature
Two young ladies who have lived in each other's home and attended each other's school 5,000 miles apart for a year, won't have a chance to compare notes.

Ann Bowman arrives in New York 3 p. m. Friday from Augsburg, Germany. And her counterpart, Dagmar von Schoeler, will be leaving Dallas 1 p. m. Friday for a trip to Chicago and on to New York.

This bit of irony won't cause any loss of memory of the fabulous experiences of Ann and Dagmar. It would only have been more fun for the attractive young ladies to meet. There is no great likelihood they will in the immediate future.

Dagmar spent the year with Ann's parents, Dr. and Mrs. George Bowman, of Cameron, taking Ann's place in the family of six Bowman youngsters.

Ann did likewise, joining in the academic and active life of the von Schoelers in the South German city of 200,000.

It was quite a switch for both girls, though Dagmar had been an exchange student in England and Scandinavia. It meant trips around Europe and the Iron Curtain for Ann. It was the Alamo, Mexico, and the friendly life of a small Texas town for Dagmar.

But Dagmar has been impressed with Texas and the Southwest. She hopes to complete her high school in another year, attend a German University for one year and then enroll at the University of Texas in about two years.

Ann will re-enter Yoe High School, certainly a well-travelled young lady.

Dagmar will be saying goodbye to Cameron football and graduation activities, an American Christmas and a lively life with the large Bowman family, these topping her long list of impressions here.

As she rides on to Chicago, then goes on to Drew University for three days of "summing up" in New York, Dagmar will consider the delights of learning to make fudge (she will teach her family how) and the more serious impact of YHS classes in history, civics and Texas history.

Most of all, she will remember the advantages of getting to know everyone in a small town. As she says: "I've never had so many close friends."

Some of those friends feted her at a "typical Texas" watermelon party recently. And she said some of her goodbyes.

After New York, it will be a plane trip July 31 to Brussels, Belgium, to join her family on a vacation there and finally home to Augsburg.

If Dagmar's plans to return to the University of Texas is not tribute enough to Cameron and Texas, then it is likely that Ann's happy return will prove that it has many advantages, as well as being "home."

CAMERON MAN SAFE AS CREW, PLANE LOCATED

Cameron's Charles Richards, missing for some two days in the Southeast Asian jungles in Viet Nam, has been rescued along with three other crewmen.

His family confirmed the 27-year old's safety in a telephone conversation with a Col. Urr, assistant to Base CO Col. Dailey of Richards unit at Pope Air Force Base, N. C.

He reported in a second phone conversation Wednesday afternoon that Richards was one of the three crewmen with minor injuries. The C123's pilot, Capt. Henderson, was being treated for a broken leg.

The four men were helicoptered from the jungle wreck by helicopter, Mrs. Frank Richards, the sergeant's mother, told The Herald.

They are in a hospital in a small village in South Viet Nam.

Word of the plane's discovery first came over a news cast Wednesday morning. Mrs. Richards said, "Some friends in Waco told us of the report, which the colonel said was premature, but correct."

No official release was to be made until the extent of injuries was determined, the Air Force official told Mrs. Richards.

The Cameron families of Sgt. Richards and his wife were jubilant over the news. So was Cameron.

Staff Sgt. Charles F. (Towhead) Richards, 27, native of Cameron and son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Richards is one of four men listed as missing in the crash of a C123 transport plane Sunday July 15 in Viet Nam.

Mrs. Richards, the former Miss Margaret Angell, with their daughter Tammy, 2, is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. V. L. (Buck) Angell while her husband is on this tour of duty. They have been living in Spring Lake, N. C., where he had been stationed until recently.

Richards was born and reared in Cameron and graduated from Yoe High School in 1952. Immediately after graduation he enlisted in the Air Force and spent four years there. He married Miss Margaret Angell in 1966 and entered Baylor University, Waco. He left Baylor after two terms and re-enlisted in the Air Force.

In the almost ten years of service in the Air Force Richards has attended schools and courses that have equipped him for his job as Flight Engineer.

Most of the action he has seen in service has been in the Middle, Near and Far East. In January of this year he spent three weeks in South Viet Nam and felt he would have to go back on rotation basis as his group was a "Combat Ready" group.

He participated in the parachute drop of 1000 South Vietnamese paratroopers recently. His plane, also carried out routine drops of supplies in that area.

Richards has had special jungle survival training in Holbrook AFB Panama Canal and his wife and family are basing their hopes of his return on this special training.

COTTON REPORT

Cotton made good development this week with hot, dry weather prevailing according to the U. S. Department of Agriculture. Harvest in the Valley picked up momentum. The demand for current ginnings was slow. Spot prices declined in some of the markets. Domestic and export inquiries were not numerous.

Conditions were near ideal for cotton growth in all sections of the area this week. Moisture was generally adequate. Some dryland sections of West Texas could use a good rain. The Valley crop continued to improve with only light coastal showers this week. Plants continued to fruit with about one-third of the crop in the partial bloom stage. Harvest was making good progress with some gins receiving around 200 or more bales. Hand labor is in short supply. Producers were beginning to apply defoliant. Private sources estimated that 95 percent of the crop may be machine harvested. A number of first bales were ginned in the Corpus Christi area. Crop prospects in this area are still spotted in some of the southern counties but range from good to excellent in others. Generally, plant growth and fruiting were satisfactory. Insect and worm control measures were generally effective in the early producing sections of Texas. Crop damage was lighter than usual in many counties. In central, North and East Texas the crop outlook is the most promising in several years. Cultivation made good progress this week. Plant growth was rapid with half-grown bolls showing up in the older cotton. Regular control measures held pest infestations to a minimum. The West Texas crop made general improvement with good growing weather prevailing. Early plantings were blooming and fruiting heavily.

Middling 1" cotton was quoted Thursday, July 12 at 33.75 cents in the Dallas market, unchanged. Prices in other markets were 33.50 cents in Houston and 33.25 cents in Lubbock, compared with 33.75 and 33.50 a week ago. Spot buying subsided in most of the markets. Shippers bought in small volume, mainly to complete current orders. Activity in the Valley markets was slow for this time of the season. There was still some selling and buying of acreage on a hog round basis according to reports. A small volume of the current ginnings was moving into trade channels at prices reported from 34.00 to 34.35 cents. Domestic mill activity was slow. Inquiries were not too frequent. Buying of old crop cotton was confined mainly to small fill - in lots for prompt delivery. Interest in new crop cotton was slow but some improvement was noted. Bidding prices limited purchases to a small volume. Inquiries from abroad were slow and were mainly from countries with P. L. 480 allocations. Korea, Formosa, and India bought in moderate volume. New crop interest was light.

County Agents Notes...

Committee Tours County Crops

By J. D. Moore

Milam County Agent

The Milam county Field Crops Committee and Cameron Chamber of Commerce Blackland Committee made plans this week for the annual county crops tour to start at the Post Office in Cameron at 7:30 a. m. July 20.

Stops to be made include the following farms where tests will be shown: Joe P. and Herman Mueck farms, cotton, corn and maize test showing proper fertility level for high yields; W. C. Keith farm, maize variety test; Kenneth Willy farm, Maysfield community, fertilizer test under cotton; Frank Kratochvil Farm, cotton varieties, insect control and fertility test; Anton Moraw farm, cotton varieties and proper fertility level; Coleman Duncum farm, cotton varieties and fertilizer test; Bud Johnson's Blackland cotton program (on Buegler land south of Crenshaw farm); Wilburn Beckhusen farm, Buckholts community, cotton and maize variety test and fertility test; and Irwin Fuessel farm in Thorndale community, cotton and maize test, also insect control program.

Cold drinks will be furnished by a committee headed by Robert Clark, local PCA office manager.

Committee members to be in charge of the tour are: Wilburn Beckhusen, Mayor Coleman Cumcum, Joe P. Mueck, Robert Clark, Anton Moraw, Frank Kratochvil, Irwin Fuessel, and Henry Siebman, chairman of the Blackland Committee.

Ben Spears, Agronomist; John Box, Agronomist in Fertilizer work and Fred Elliott, Cotton Work specialist from A & M College, will accompany the group on the tour. The public is invited to attend.

BOLLWORM CONTROL
Migration of the bollworm millers from the corn and maize into cotton fields during the past few days has resulted in a heavy deposit of bollworm eggs in most cotton fields, particularly in the Little River bottom cotton.

Farmers are urged to check their fields daily and continue protecting their cotton with an application of DDT, not more than 4 to 5 day intervals. If bollworms are present, additional chemicals should be added for their control.

Comparative toxicity tests with the bollworm and tobacco budworm showed that recommended insecticides of DDT, Endrin, Sevin, Toxaphene-DDT (2:1 ratio), and Strobane - DDT (2:1 ratio) continue to be effective in the control of bollworms.

RANGE CAMP

The 8th annual Range Camp for a selected group of 4-H and FFA boys will be held July 29 - August 4 at the A & M College of Texas Adjunct at Junction. It is sponsored by the Texas Section, American Society of Range Management.

COMPACTED SOIL

Layers of compacted soil just below tillage depth restrict or halt plant root growth by interfering with root penetration, not by restricting air or moisture supply from the root, the U. S. Department of Agriculture reports.

SOIL MOISTURE

Present soil moisture conditions in most sections of Texas are not favorable for a continuation of aerial applications of chemicals for the control of brush oaks and mesquites, advises G. O. Hoffman, extension range specialist.

Charles H. Yeates

An oxy-acetylene welding short course for adult farmers will be held July 23 to 27 at 7 p. m. under the sponsorship of the Yoe High School Vocational Agriculture Department according to Charles Zeigler, Supt. and C. Tittsworth, teacher of vo-ag.

Charles H. Yeates, welding specialist with the Vocational Agriculture Division of the Texas Education Agency and Dept. of Agricultural Engineering at Texas A & M College, will be the instructor for the course.

"Many oxy - acetylene welding short courses in various parts of the state have been taught by Yeates and all have met with outstanding success," according to Lester Buford area III supervisor of vocational agriculture of Houston.

During the dates the short course is in progress, Yeates will be available to assist farmers with individual problems and to provide on-the-farm instruction.

Farmers interested in attending the short course should write or call the supt. of schools, Zeigler, or C. Tittsworth. An entry fee of $6. will be charged. Certificates are to be presented to each enrollee who attends all the training sessions.

Yeates stated that the short course will be adjusted to wishes and interests of farmers enrolled but that he expects to cover such subjects as safety in oxy-acetylene welding, factors controlled by the operator in oxy-acetylene welding, choosing adjusting torch flames, types of welding rods, preparation of joints, distortion, cutting and hardsurfacing.

This program is now available to farmers throughout the state under the new cooperative program between the Texas Education Agency and Texas A&M College along with other programs such as courses in the fields of beef cattle, insect control, farm management, farm electrification, farm welding, swine production, tractor maintenance, and dairy cattle. Specialists in each field are now available to teach these courses.

TURKEY PRODUCERS

Texas turkey producers are advised by Joe N. Wakefield, Poultry Science Department, A & M College, to check all market turkeys now for chigger infestations. These little pests, he adds, can cause the downgrading of birds and a resulting financial loss to growers. Local county agents can supply control information.

New "TELSTAR"
relays phone calls
and TV pictures
for first time!

Bell System microwave-in-sky satellite is latest communications triumph for America arising from telephone research

The world's first private enterprise communications satellite is now being used for dramatic experiments in relaying telephone calls and television internationally.

Its name: Telstar. It was launched from Cape Canaveral at Bell System expense by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

Telstar receives signals beamed to it from a ground station, amplifies them and transmits them to another station on the ground below—perhaps an ocean away from the first one. The new satellite thus acts as a microwave relay station in the sky, enabling voices, TV pictures and data messages to leap thousands of miles in a new and exciting way.

The ground stations in the U.S. now being used for Telstar were built by the Bell System at Andover, Maine, and Holmdel, New Jersey.

Telstar is a first major experimental step toward a worldwide satellite communications system that was first proposed as a practical venture at Bell Telephone Laboratories. Progress toward such a system would not have reached its present state without continuing research and development by the private communications industry.

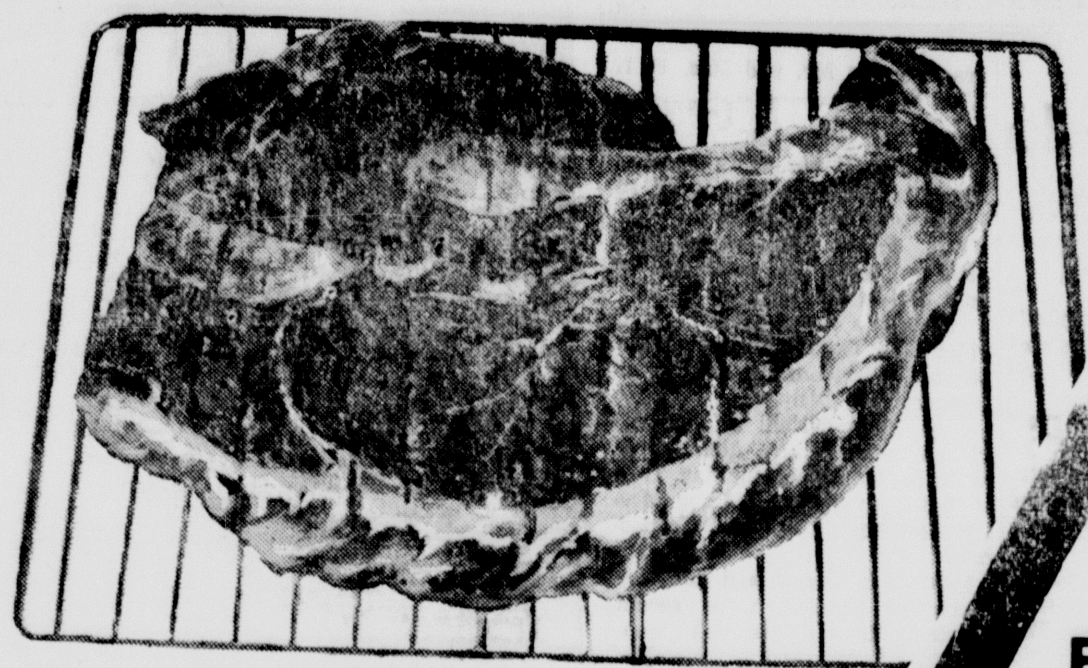

Above all else, Telstar is the latest achievement in an unending Bell System quest—the search for ways to make your telephone service still better, more economical, and more useful.

WITH PARENTS' ADVICE . . .

College Expenses Can Be Managed

Off-to-college time often carries an overtone of financial concern, for both student and parent, particularly if it's the boy's or girl's first experience away from home, according to American Express.

College counselors say the size of a student's allowance has little to do with whether he or she has money difficulties at school. More important is having a mature attitude in handling money.

Parents can help their children become both self-confident and sensible in money matters. A little advance thinking on budgets, part-time work, allowances and emergencies should be a required course before school starts.

Sit down with your youngster for a frank discussion of expenses and what's to be done about them—entertainment, dating, snacks, club dues, sports, clothes, books and maybe a dozen other items.

Your child will probably get along fine once he knows what he'll have to spend.

Allowances—Regardless of the state of your family finances, and even in the well-off family, it is preferable to set a specific sum as the youngster's expense fund.

Budgets—Not necessarily fun, but they can help save lots of grief. Take a bit of time for a paper-and-pencil session with your child—show him how to make what he has spread over what he needs, how to cut one thing to allow for another.

Handling—Which is best: a lump sum to take along on leaving home? Or sending small weekly amounts? Monthly remittances? On request? Decide after talking it over, but make sure of safety. No one need risk losing expense money. Use travelers checks, which serve a double purpose. First, youngsters can carry these loss-proof checks instead of risky cash while en route to school and to have on campus. In case of loss or theft, they are promptly refunded or replaced. Second, when sending funds, regular or emergency, you can arrange with your local bank to have American Express deliver travelers checks through its office nearest the college. Western Union will also transmit travelers checks.

Part-time work—A tradition in American college life, today there is a trend toward part-time work in the student's field of interest. Your child may find work in a psychology lab, market research, in travel sales, or any of the myriad of jobs that are part of today's college scene.

Savings—Advise your son or daughter to put aside some of his expense money in a bank account, accumulate it little by little, for some special purposes—or emergency.

Do-it-yourself—may be a budget stretcher. For example, your daughter, setting off for dormitory living, may need funds for room draperies, bedspread, vanity skirt, clothes. By making some of them herself she may be able to stretch her allowance.

Allowances—Regardless of the state of your family finances, and even in the well-off family, it is preferable to set a specific sum as the youngster's expense fund.

Budgets—Not necessarily fun, but they can help save lots of grief. Take a bit of time for a paper-and-pencil session with your child—show him how to make what he has spread over what he needs, how to cut one thing to allow for another.

Taking A Broad Appraisal...

Cameron school board members and administration officials are taking a broad look at the Cameron system's curriculum.

And in the doing, they are planning to offer five academic subjects per student, rather than the four "solids" required per semester at present.

Gone will be the ineffective study hall where students often times expend their energies on things other than lessons. Here will be a supervised study hall with pupils studying in smaller units with their teachers.

The realities of learning show that all students, not just those heading for college, need as much "solid" background as possible in the fundamentals of English, civics, history, basic math and science. Business, industry, government all require higher minimums than ever before. The world of technology is here, but if that technology is not to be overwhelming, people have to know more than gadgetry.

A wise man once told his son, years ago, that from "your shoulders down, you're worth two dollars a day. But from the neck up, your value is unlimited."

The only difference today is that manual labor, though good for the soul, is becoming less valuable.

Many schools already have the five-course minimum. And it is fine that Cameron is joining those ranks.

We understand that speech therapy is being reinstituted after three years out of operation. And general improvements are being programmed for introduction throughout the Cameron system.

One thing the board is working toward is a solution to the physical training problem. While the mind needs constant culturing, it needs a healthy body to keep it sharp.

Athletic boosters will be amazed what a good physical training program will do for team sports as well as individual students. A lot of sports - talented youngsters, perhaps unwilling to try out for interscholastic sports, might be discovered in gym classes of an active physical training program.

All these things are in the minds of Cameron's school and administrative officials. With greater understanding of the importance of these programs will come a better school system for fine youngsters, your youngsters.

Court's Decision Causes Uproar

By Vern Sanford

AUSTIN — U. S. Supreme Court's decision that federal courts have power to review acts of state legislatures in reapportioning representation was met with an uproar from many states.

"Reapportionment" is the business of redistricting a state to determine the number of legislators according to an area's population. National and state constitutions both provide for re-examination of representation in legislative assemblies every 10 years.

An area frequently gains or loses representatives to the state house. This happened in Texas recently, when a 1961 redistricting act by the legislature took effect.

Working under a constitutional amendment adopted in 1936, limiting cities to one representative for every 700,000 inhabitants, Texas' representative districts got a pretty thorough going over.

The 31 - member senate body was not greatly effected by the reapportionment, however, since the law states that the senate "shall never be increased and no single county shall be entitled to more than one senator."

What the U. S. Supreme Court would hold about such a condition in view of a congressional provision for two U. S. senators from each state regardless of population, won't be known unless the question is put to its nine justices.

There is some reason to believe, however, that the higher court would look with disfavor on this State's constitutional provision limiting House representation to one member for every 100,000 inhabitants after a county attains a population of more than 700,000.

In the event citizens dissatisfied with the situation in Texas ever go to court for a reshuffling, they'll be armed with the information that 11 urban counties have a little more than half off Texas' 9,579,677 inhabitants and more than a third of the 150 members of the House of Representatives.

HOPE FOR TRAPPED FISH

An "escape route" for thousands of fish which risk death daily in a shallow pool off Padre Island is planned by the State Game and Fish Commission, which estimates that tons of game fish have died in a nine - mile hole north of Port Mansfield over the last 10 years.

Howard Lee, the commission's director of field operations, said red fish and trout swim into the shallow pool in the course of their north - to - south migration, and don't recognize the fact that there's only one way out.

As the temperature increases in late spring and summer, the water level drops. Fish then are caught in a dry water pool created by drifting sands and are trapped there until death releases them as food for birds and other scavengers in the area.

Dredging of a six - foot deep, 50-foot wide channel running 4,000 feet through Laguna Madre into the Intercoastal Canal is expected to put a stop to the waste of fish and make them available for "harvest" -- a Game and Fish Commission euphemism for fishing.

Release Date Three Weeks Away For 49th

FORT POLK, La. - From the furious activity engulfing this Southwest Louisiana Army post, it seems almost impossible that the release date for the 49th Armored Division is less than three weeks away.

The more than 14,000 officers and men of the Texas Army National Guard division are busier than ever. In addition to preparing for their separation from active duty August 9, they are undergoing continued combat readiness training.

We still must keep our guard up," according to Lieutenant Colonel Karl E. Wallace, the Division's training officer. In this modern Army it is not unusual for a soldier to turn in a portion of his equipment in the morning and then spend the remainder of the day on the range firing new weapons.

Colonel Wallace said the Texas guardsmen would continue training until the day they are returned to state control. He stated the 49th had attained a "tremendously high degree of readiness during its 10 months of active duty. "We want to hold this proficiency," he emphasized.

However, the separation activity now is reaching its peak. More than sixteen hundred families of Division personnel are preparing to return home. The Texans will drive approximately 13,500 automobiles back to their native state. In fact, the auto registration at Fort Polk is the highest per capita for any Army post in the world.

PERMIAN BASIN COLLEGE URGED

A "Citizens Relations Committee" of 20 West Texans flew into Austin to ask the Texas Commission on Higher Education to approve plans for converting Odessa Junior College to a state-supported, four year "Permian State College."

According to their spokesman, W. D. Fleck of Odessa, 30 per cent of the Ector County's college enrollment of about 1,600 is composed of out - of - county students. Administrators estimated a 3,686 enrollment by 1970, if it's changed to a state-supported senior college.

C. A. Roberson, business manager of Odessa's $3,000,000 junior college, said the population in the Permian Basin increased from 159,000 to 238,000 between 1950 and 1960 and is expected to reach 500,000 by 1970.

Commission will study the matter further before making a recommendation to the next legislature.

Attempts to get the 57th Legislature to approve full state support and senior college status of San Angelo Junior College, Laredo Junior College and Pan American College at Edinburg failed in the third special session.

THE OLD PHILOSOPHER

Philosopher Finds Out About Telstar, Can't Figure Out How It'll Bring World Peace

Dear editor:

I was busy sleeping at the time and missed it, but according to a newspaper article I read yesterday afternoon, television shows were transmitted from the United States to Europe and from Europe to the United States last week by bouncing the beams off a new satellite now circling the earth.

This, the report said, has opened by a vast new field, and one expert announced it would mean bringing the world still closer together.

"The more the people of the world can communicate with each other, the more we can understand each other and the nearer we are to permanent peace," he said.

I have been reflecting on this statement and so far have not quite figured out a few things.

For example, I don't know anything about European television, but I've seen quite a bit of American television, and if world understanding is to be achieved by TV, this sure puts a burden on Europe. They must have a different brand over there. The brand we've got over here, while apparently entertaining, hasn't been designed to improve world understanding, not to mention attain permanent peace.

On the other hand, if Europe had to look at our TV every night and we had to look at theirs, and both turn out to be about equal, it might improve world understanding. What we could all come to understand is the world still has a long way to go yet.

On still another hand, I'm not sure that understanding people is any guarantee for world peace. When I have been the furthestest from peace with some people was when I understand them thoroughly and realized what they were up to. The more I understand what Mr. Khrushchev has in mind, the less peaceful I feel toward him.

Worldwide, instantaneous television is an achievement, but, while I may be short - sighted, it's hard for me to see much change resulting from bouncing Gun Smoke off a satellite one night and a Khrushchev speech the next. This would be far too much Khrushchev.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

New Satellite For Bell System

A small satellite hundreds of miles in outer space is sending signals to earth in tests that will lead to better communications services for Cameron residents.

The satellite, Telstar, is the Bell Telephone System's pioneer in the new frontier of space communications. Telstar tests will help pave the way for a worldwide satellite communications network to send overseas phone calls, live television and other signals. The satellite will receive and retransmit signals, much as overland microwave systems do in today's long distance calling.

Telstar was successfully launched last week from Cape Canaveral by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, which is co-operating with the Bell System in the experiments. The Bell System will repay NASA for the Telstar launching costs, about $3 million.

Television viewers will have the opportunity to see Telstar's work first hand in a series of live telecasts planned between this country and Europe. Television signals will be sent from ground stations in England and France to Telstar and be retransmitted to the Bell System's ground station at Andover, Maine. American programs also will be sent to Europe, via Telstar.

Live overseas telecasts have not been possible up to now because ocean cable and radio systems in use don't have the transmission capacity for these signals.

Major experiments involve sending signals from the Maine ground station to another Bell station at Holmdel, N. J., via the satellite. Telephone calls, video tape signals, facsimile news photographs and high - speed signals are being transmitted in the tests.

In addition to communications transmission, Telstar gathers technical information on outer space as it orbits the earth at altitudes up to 3,500 miles. These findings will be shared with scientists throughout the world to help advance the peaceful use of space.

Built by Bell Telephone Laboratories, Telstar is a 170 - pound satellite, just under three feet in diameter. It carries more than 10,000 electronic parts and this gear amplifies signals 10 billion times for their return trip to earth.

Plant Root Growth

Restricted By

Compacted Soil

COLLEGE STATION — Layers of compacted soil just below tillage depth restrict or halt plant root growth by interfering with root penetration, not by restricting air or moisture supply from the roots, the U. S. Department of Agriculture reports.

Scientists had thought that poor aeration or reduced water transmission rate in compacted soil might be the cause of restricted growth when roots reached these layers. However, the air and water supplies in compacted layers were adequate in experiments conducted by soil scientists of the Agricultural Research Service at Big Springs on Amarillo fine sandy loam soil.

Compacted soil layers are caused by passage of machinery across cultivated fields or by repeated tillage at the same depth. These layers, which occur on the southern great Plains and elsewhere, are variously called plogpans, hardpans, tillage pans, pressure pans or claypans.

The test plots were artificially compacted in the spring with a farm tractor or road roller. Some plots were chiseled or sweep-tilled, leaving a compacted layer below tillage depth; other lots were not tilled after compaction. The plot were planted to guar, sesbania, mung beans, cowpeas or sorghum, all with similar root growth patterns.

Murray-Go-Round

By Tom Murray
SPORTS APLENTY

Count Baytown's Beverly Rockhold, state championship track coach, among those who think fibre glass poles are legitimate tools for vaulting records. "They did not question sprint records after the advent of starting blocks," he says caustically.

Houston area baseball fans are warming to a familiar sound -- the wild voice of Lowell Passe who signed on to help Al Helfer and Gene Elston announce Colt 45 games. Lowell, most popular of all who announced Buff games has a language all his own. "He breezed him!" Of course is Passe for a Colt Strike - out. He always follows with an encouraging, "Now, youah chunky in there, son!"

Joe Pepitone, rookie Yankee slugger, was a principal in a free-for - all fight with the Austin Senators at the Capitol City last summer. Amarillo and Austin had experienced bad blood all summer and it boiled to the surface as the Sens upset Amarillo in the Shagbush Playoffs.

Irate reports have been forthcoming that one Southwest Conference school has trafficked in questionable recruiting. Seems they are adept at talking highly - sought stars into marrying high school sweethearts to offset obvious disadvantages at said school.

Darrell Royal, whose popularity is burgeoning, met his old coach Bud Wilkinson three times in head-on recruiting of prized Texas schoolboy talent. Royal signed two - San Antonio Jeff Line - backer Tom Nobis and Sweetwater End Buddy Alldridge - to University of Texas letters - of - intent. Wilkinson inked All-America Fullback Larry Shields of Wichita Falls. Alldridge is the son of a prominent Sweetwater Aggie.

Colorful Bibb Falk, whose Texas Longhorn baseballers knocked off Arizona, the No. 1 college baseball team, 1-0 and 7-4 is another with a different vocabulary. He calls his reserves, "The goofs" The Texas Aggies must be kicking themselves as Texas prepares to move into the college World Series at Omaha. But for 4-3 and 11-10 losses to the Longhorns Tom Chandler's Farmers would be on that train.

BEST LAUGH of the spring was S. M. U. Baseball Coach Alex Hooks poking fun at Falk. Hook, who has never won a SWC Championship and whose team finished 6-21 for the season might consider listening to the Bibber.

Baylor, a school with its athletic financial problem, is experiencing a new headache. Usually the Golden Bears lose coaches for not winning. Now they are afraid rumors that larger schools are after SWC Championship Track Coach Jack Patterson, with a fat contract, may come true. Rumors are usually just that, but money AND the right opportunity can change more minds than a female.

Look out! Frank Broyles is talking confidently. The Ozark talking machine has pore - mouthed furiously the past three years. Since he won one SWC Championship outright and tied Texas for the other two he must be packing dynamite this time . . . one Aggie, forlorn that the Billie Sol Estes case had reached to the lip of Aggie land, moaned, "Ain't we got enough troubles?"

Rice's slugging first - baseman, Joel Tiggett, and Texas Lutheran star Kenny Voges, should draw the fans for Jiggs Westergard's semi-pro Seguin White Sox this summer. Pitcher Charles Hartenstein should make it unanimous after the college World Series Some folks are saying TCU end Lynn Morrison, of Cleburne, will be the Southwest Conference's meanest player this fall.

TELEPHONE TALK

HELP!

Writing a newspaper column has its advantages and its disadvantages. On the good side, it gives me a chance to discuss a variety of telephone topics and pass on news and views concerning my company.

On the bad side, I sometimes come up "bone dry" and can't beg or borrow an idea to write about.

And that's where you come in.

If you have a question you'd like answered or a subject you'd like discussed, just drop me a line in care of this paper. Only one restriction—keep the subject on telephones and communications. I'm no good at settling family fusses or giving personal, legal or medical advice. And if you come up with a question I can't answer, I'll try to find someone who can. How about it? Any takers?

DO YOU KNOW THE ANSWER?

During his entire lifetime, how many hours would you guess the average man spends telephoning?

Well, the answer might seem impossible (to anyone but a teenager) but the average is 8,760 hours! (And while this is sure a lot of time, just think how many hours you save by telephoning instead of having to deliver your message personally!)

Anyway, it strikes me that as long as you're going to spend a year of your life on the phone, you may as well do it conveniently. And nothing offers more convenience than personal extension phones wherever you work, sleep or play.

We've got phones in a rainbow of colors to suit your own good taste. Just call the business office, or ask any telephone service man.

A WORD TO THE WISE

I ran across this cartoon in one of our company publications. I think the moral is clear without me adding too many words.

July is a popular month for vacations—and if you want to be sure of a reservation, always call ahead. Our telephone booths are nice but they were never designed for overnight stays.

So long, see you next month.

To The Busy Housewife ...

YOUR HOMETOWN NEWSPAPER IS A REAL CONVENIENCE!

A wonderful way for a busy young mother to save countless hours is by shopping the ads in her hometown newspaper. By knowing, before she goes to town, which products she wants and where to buy them, she can do an efficient job of marketing. While the housewife spends her time becoming an expert nurse, laundress, cook, playmate, and bookkeeper, the local newspaper is bringing her the shopping news. It tells her about the latest products and services that will help her accomplish her work most efficiently. It tells her where to find the best prices offered on items she needs. It saves her many long hours of "shopping around".

"Count on Me!"

"Certainly, Pastor, I'll be glad to do that — count on me."

How wonderful those words — "Count on me!"

Frank is one of the busiest businessmen in town, but he always has time to talk with his pastor when he calls — not merely time to talk with him, but to comply with whatever request the pastor may make. Nor does the pastor doubt that Frank will do just that. Not that mutual agreement has been made between the pastor and Frank; rather, Frank and God have come into "mutual agreement" concerning Frank's life—and now, God and Frank are partners. That's why it is always easy for Frank to allow demands upon his time, his abilities, his money.

So, the pastor is not the only "man of God" in town. Frank, too, as a businessman and devoted Christian layman, is truly "God's man".

"Count on me!" Could there be a better answer when needs, duties or opportunities call!

"Other foundation can no man lay than that is laid, which is Jesus Christ."

OUTDOORS IN TEXAS

By Vern Sanford

Texas anglers who use artificial lures are perhaps the most original and apt of any bi-ped on earth, when it comes to bait.

Should they want to go fishing and the usual lures aren't available, they create their own version of what fish like.

Sure, they haunt the sporting goods stores too, just like all other fishermen. They fill their tackle boxes with lures of every hue and shape.

But if for any reason, they find themselves without lures, these Texas artisans of the artificial lure make their very own.

Everything from dentures to squirrel tails are used as improvised bait. Horsehair, chicken feathers, bucktails, felt, calico, tin foil, glass, pine cones — these and many others are used to fool the fish.

When the minnow bucket gets empty, or the last worm in the can is used up, many bank fishermen quit for the day. They needn't. Not when there is so much natural bait available.

After all — fish relish a change of diet just like you do. So offer it to them.

Most fish that go for minnows or worms will strike equally well, sometimes better, on such bait as hellgrammites, rotten eggs, soap, wash grubs, grasshoppers, crickets, chicken liver, chicken entrails, caterpillars, whole corn and even grapes, to name a few.

Hellgrammites make excellent bait and they stay alive on the hook indefinitely.

To gather a can of them, wade through shallow riffles, turning over stones as you wade. More often than not you will find hellgrammites under these stones.

Use a small minnow net the kind you use to dip bait from a bucket) to scoop them up. If you must use your bare hands be careful, for this fellow is armed with vicious, but non-poisonous, nip-pers.

To "bait up," insert the hook under the hard collar the hellgrammite wears.

Rotten eggs should be used only in an emergency—for obvious reasons.

But they do make good catfish bait when tied in a tobacco sack. Just punch several holes in the eggs — after placing them in the sack — then attach to hook.

The stink travels out and attracts catfish like crazy.

When you find yourself in a bind for bait, open your tackle box and get out that small cake of soap you have packed away. Cut cake into a number of small cubes. Use these cubes as bait. They make a fair pole line and trotline bait for catfish.

Wasp - nest grubs make good bluegill and sunfish bait.

Gathering these grubs can be dangerous, for wasps don't take kindly to such raids. So try creeping up on the nest with an open container of gasoline — quickly douse the nest with the fluid — then run.

The gasoline will kill all the adult wasps instantly — except those away from the nest at the time. Make your raid at night and you'll catch all the wasps at home.

Once the wasps are killed, pull the nest down and dig out the grubs. They are good bait for bass, too.

Grasshoppers are widely used as bait. Bluegills, catfish and sunfish like them. No reason to wear yourself out chasing them. Wait until night, then use a flashlight. You can pick them up without trouble after dark.

Place the hoppers in a jar fixed so that only one at a time can be taken out. Otherwise all may escape.

To use, insert barb through the hard part of the grasshopper's shoulder. Don't dunk hopper as though you were giving it a bath, but let insect rest lightly on the water's surface.

Chicken livers can be cut into small chunks. So can chicken entrails. Both make excellent bait for catfish and bass.

Chicken blood, collected at the time the fowl is killed, if saved to congeal, can be cut into squares like fudge to use on your hook. These blood squares melt rapidly but will attract fish like a magnet.

A long overlooked emergency bait is plain moss. Not Spanish moss, but the close green moss that grows on wet trees or stagnant ponds. You'll catch bass, if bass are biting.

Then there is corn. Just plain old Indian corn that grows on cobs. For carp, buffalo and channel cats, cut grains off of the cob, string a number on a 2-0 hook, and fish the bottom. If fresh "roasting ears" are not in season, try frozen corn kernels, or canned kernels of corn.

Another good bait that might not appeal to some fishermen is the black cockroach — the kind that is plentiful around Texas' oak trees and damp basements. The cockroach is a successful bait — if you have the stomach to handle them and put them on your hook.

In the spring they make very good bait, usually good, but — Peyu!
